Dear Anthony Robinson,

Thank you for your email about the information of publication accepted.
Thank you for allowing me to do a final check on grammar, spelling, punctuation, and formatting for my manuscript.
After doing a thorough check, I apologize because there was an error in the REFERENCES section where the year of the journal article was published was different from the source (the published year's difference occurs only in Journal Articles). So I also made improvements to the References section.
All revisions have been made and highlighted on the attached manuscript.

Sincerely,
Putu Doddy Heka Ardana
